COLLEGE OF ARTS + SCIENCES

COURSES

The versatility of our program allows you to truly tailor the curriculum to your interests and professional goals. Here's a sample of what you can expect to learn and do:

Cognitive Neuroscience

The purpose of this course is to familiarize the student with the cognitive processes underlying human behavior, their experimental origins, and their theoretical significance.

Developmental Psychology

This course covers the development of behavior and psychological activity through the prenatal period, infancy, childhood, adolescence, maturity, and old age with emphasis on the normal person.

Abnormal Psychology

This course is a survey of psychological disorders with emphasis on clinical "picture," explanatory theories, and etiological research. Intervention procedures are briefly addressed.

Social Psychology

Social determinants of individual behavior and of group interaction are examined with an emphasis on current research literature.

Behavioral Neuroscience

This course is an investigation of the biological basis of behavior. The focus is on neural and hormonal regulation and control of behavior.
